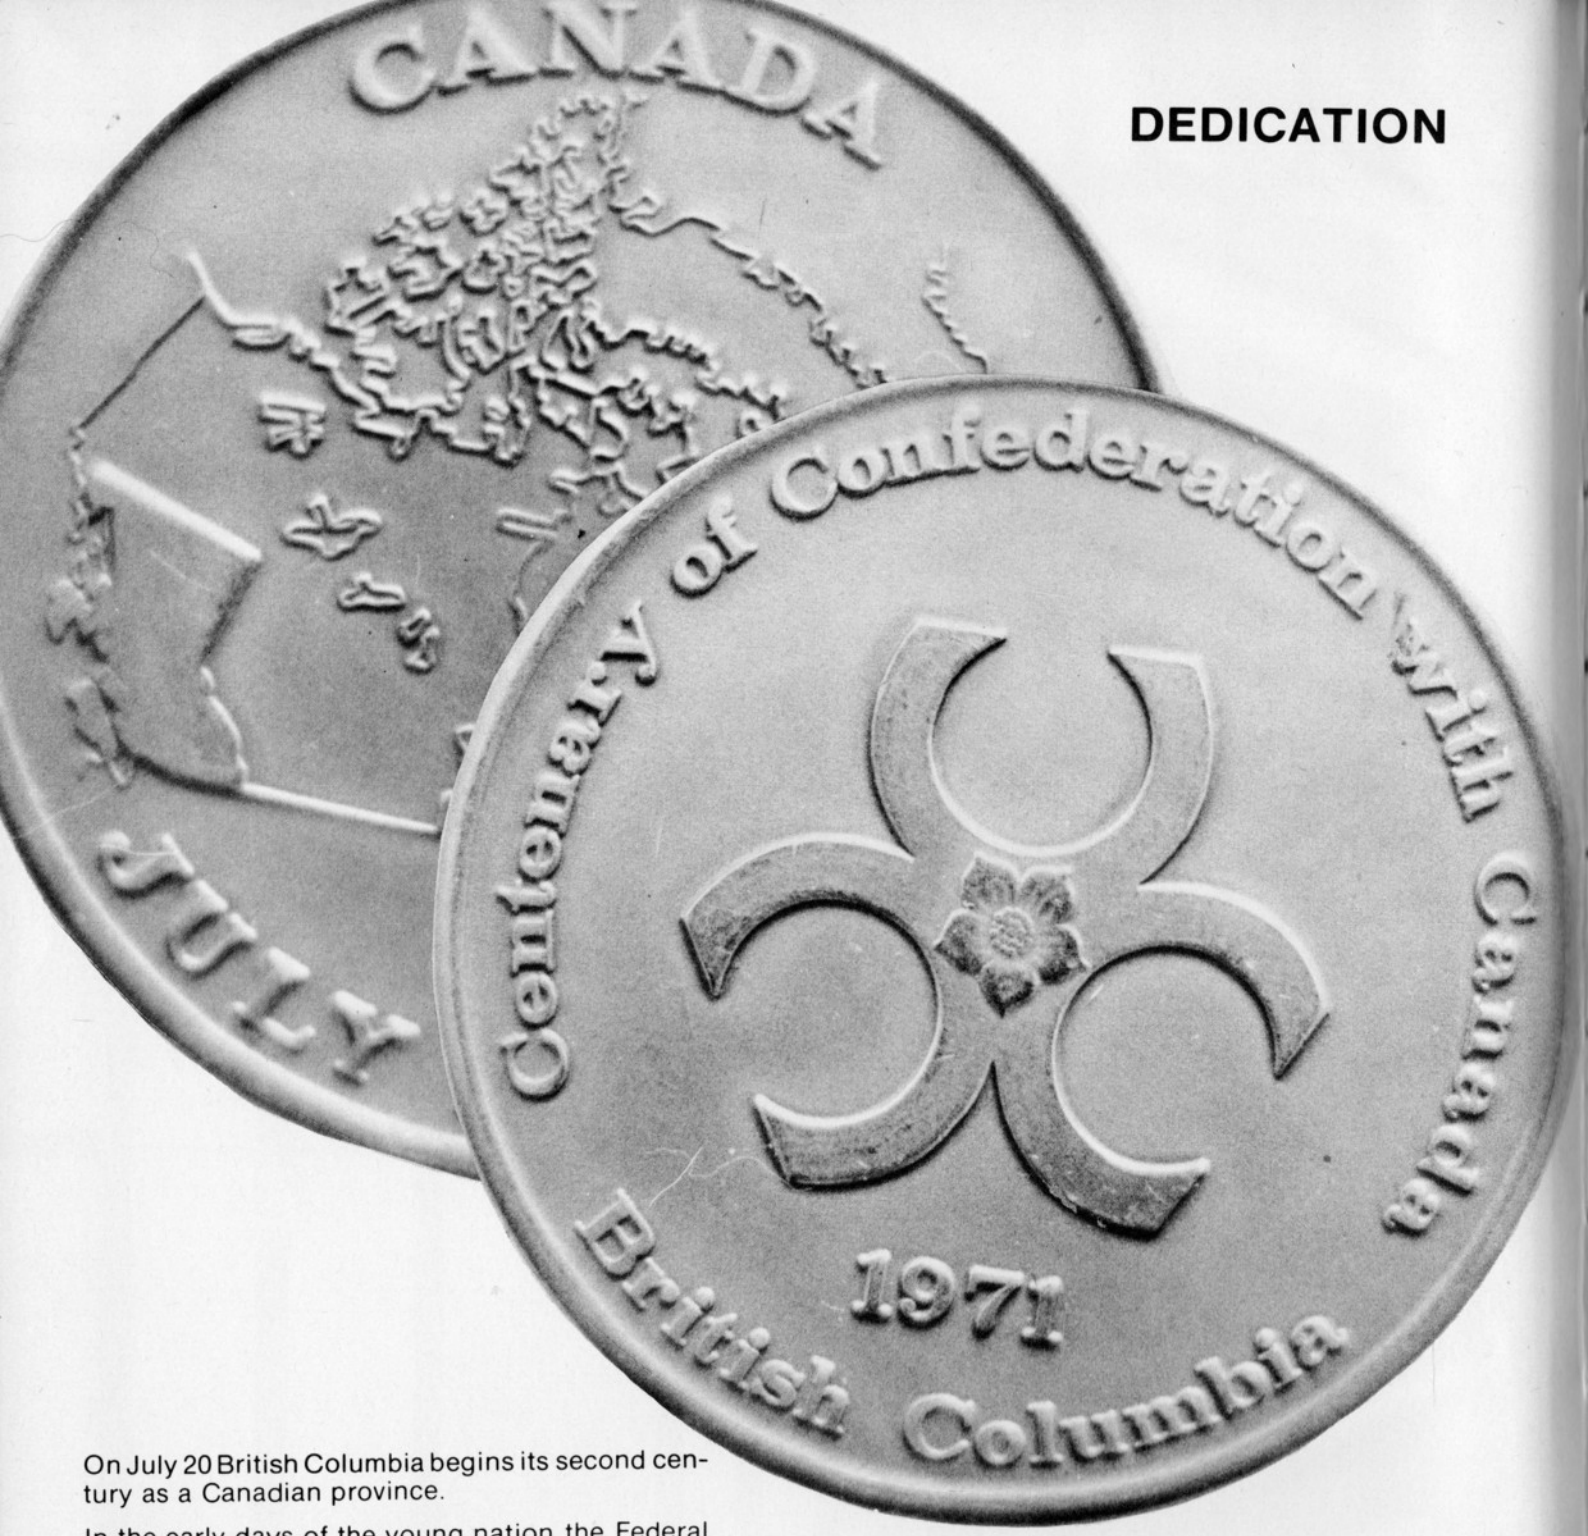
DEDICATION



On July 20 British Columbia begins its second century as a Canadian province.

In the early days of the young nation the Federal Government, recognizing the importance of this Pacific colony, encouraged it to become the sixth province in the new Confederation.

The first century has not been easy; however, by perseverence the thinly populated British colony of 1871 has emerged into the growing giant of the 1970's. This is, in large measure, due to the dedicated efforts of the pioneers from all walks of life who pursued their daily tasks with vigour and determination.

It is fitting and proper therefore, that the 1971 Camosun remember these people for a job well done. May the next 100 years be as successful!

Principal's Message

One of the "red letter" days of the school year at Vic High has always been the day the Camosun is distributed. It is an illustrated report of the year's activities, another chapter in the "history" of the school. This year's Camosun takes its place in a long series of excellent publications. Congratulations are due to the Editors and their staff for this splendid volume.

At this time it seems natural to review the year that we are completing. Although each of us will assess this year in his own way, we can probably all agree that the greatest single event for the whole school was the Circus, a very successful financial venture, that will greatly assist our programmes for the next two years.

You who graduate this year leave us in a year that is important in the history of our Province. May B. C.'s second century be good to you.

Another year draws to a close and the Camosun has captured its highlights. The book is the result of a great deal of work — but has also been very satisfying. This year's book is a departure from the normal and we hope you like it.

Camosun holds for the Grade Twelves a record of the achievements of the last memorable year. We hope that in the years to come you can look back over your Camosun and remember and feel proud. To the Graduates we wish every success.

For the Undergraduates, Camosun has woven through its pages some of the traditions of Victoria High and I hope they will inspire you to keep high the standards of our school.

I would like to thank the editorial staff, the advertising salesmen, the literary judges, and Mr. Drew, our staff advisor, without whose help Camosun would not have been possible.

War Play

Days in the fire
In another life,
I was a child.

A child
Small
Little
With tanned skin
And the blackest eyes,
The blackest hair
And the blackest soul.

A child
Small
Little
I had oranges to eat
And milk to drink
And milk to bathe in
And sugar candy to chew
But all was lost
When the fire came.

I thought they were firecrackers.
"The festival has arrived early!
Where is your sugar candy, mother?"
But she only smiled
A pale face,
"Hush child,
It is time to Sleep."

Cenotaph Peace Cry

Tomorrow I shall go to the Cenotaph.
I and others; concerned.
We shall raise a sign,
A BIG sign,
A BEAUTIFUL sign,
A sign that shall shout out,
"Respect for the dead,
With concern for the living!"

Dreams of You

I dreamed of you as a child,
Of the girl fringed with golden hair
Uprooting my mind with thoughts of happiness,
And the moments of sorrow
If you should leave:
Of mourners bent low in prayer for me,
the aftermath of love,
and the final tear.

Stu Taylor

A Land of Bluer Skies

I'd like to go
I'd like to leave
I'd like to wander
To a land of bluer skies
And redder nights.

A land that when the sun goes down
The sky becomes like a fairy land,
A land where only a muezzin
Calls to break the evening silence.

I'd like to walk there
Over the sky
And under the dawn.
I'd like to swim there
With the apes
And their children.

And in the afternoon I'd like to learn
From the White Snake
And I would sleep with him and dream only of the Fruits of morning.

And I'd like to go there
To worship
And to learn
To learn of the infinite and the infinitesimal,
The all-encompassing and the nothingness.
And I'd like to learn
And I'd like to play
And I'd like to be Happy.

Whenever

Whenever
i am alone
i am afraid for i must look to the future or at the past and to look at the past
is dangerous
and to look
to the future
is dangerous
and when i am alone there is no present

Change is in The Wind

Change is in the Wind.
  Come fly with me & watch the magic performed,
As the wonders of the earth are revealed.

Change is in the Wind
That helps birds to fly,
That transplants flower's seeds
That forms clouds & brings rain.

Change is in the Wind
That changes my mind as it does a cloud
That changes my heart as it does my mind.

Change is in the Wind.
The winnowing wind that ruffles my hair
But smooths my soul.

Change is in the wind
  As it is in life & God.

She

She sings sweet-
  Oh yes, at night,
Her pale face bent
  In the candle light,
Her slim hands touch
  The answering strings,
And she sings of hope
  And of memories.
As a bird sings sweet
  In the dew of the early morn
Songs of love and good fortune,
  Not of times forlorn;
She sings to the little Boy who stands
Watching those slim,
  Light, heedful hands . . . . .
Her hair falls beautiful
  As a waterfall
Cascading upon her slender shoulders,
  Tumbling to the sea.
She sings, she plays; and his mind wanders
  To thoughts that shall come to be-
He looks into her face;
  Her dark eyes seem
Dark with a beautiful,
  Distant dream . . .
And still she plays,;
  Sings tenderly
To him of hope
  And of memories.
She smiles a beautiful smile
  And his young heart leaps,
For now his love for her
  Is complete.

Who Will Answer?

Who will answer
  When the dying soldier
Cries out for a chance to live again
  In the rice paddies of Viet-Nam?
Who will answer
  When the frightened kidnapper
Lashes out viciously at the life
  Of an innocent man?
Who will answer
  When the terrorist bomb
Rips-off the lives of many
  In one last defiant fling?
Who will answer
  When the garbage reeks
And the birds no longer sing?
Who will answer
  When the bullet smashes unmercifully
Into the Establishment's brain?
Who will answer
  When the students wreck "our" campuses
And we wonder: are they sane?
Who will answer
  When the party is busted
And the president is found taking a toke?
Who will answer
  When somebody snaps, the button is pushed
And our precious world goes up in smoke?
  Who will answer? We must answer!
Climb down from your pedestal
  And set your shoulder to the wheel;
Remember, we're all in this together;
  So lift up your head, my friend,
  And look up the road;
If you see that your brother has problems,
  Help him with his load;
If you see your sister falling in the path,
  Give her a helping hand;
For the coals of life
  Need desperately to be fanned;
So keep it in mind, it's all up to you,
  And maybe we'll still be around
In Nineteen-ninety-two.

Doug Cunliffe

The city lies at peace with itself.
The sky is blue
For winter has taken wing
As spring returns.
From my window ledge
High above the unwary world,
I watch.
I see the dark green grass,
And all around, the rich brown earth,
Which gives my world its life.
The trees are standing guard
But there is no need for security
For all is secure, within itself.
The cry of a bird mingles with the silence of spring
But does not shatter its glory.
A hazy cloud of city smoke
Rises from a humble place and drifts,
A million miles above the earth.
While before me lies my world,
Not more than a few miles,
Not less than the infinite horizons.

But, for now my horizon is blue mountains
Which protect my fortress from evil,
And the soft white clouds above these walls are not darkened,
They show no signs of distress
But only harmony with the glory of my world.

Pat Thurber

Death of an Injured Mother

It is true, my dear
But you shall never remember,
I am your mother
T'will only stay for me,
Not for you.

You broke it, my dear
But you shall, never remember,
Your joy shall not be prolonged,
T'will be my fault,
Not yours.

Yes, my dear, he's dead
But I shall cry for you,
I am your mother
T'will make me sad,
But better me than you.

Your life you'll go on living,
You will know only love and joy
That's all there is, my dear,
I have been your mother,
Good-bye.

Pam Farrell

The Prayer of An Atheist Farmer

Your will is that of the wind
Of the sun and of age.
Your life is ruled by others
And your beliefs are none.
Your shapes are many,
But they are not of you
And your colour rules your mood.

But you are me.
My life is of you;
Your tears give me life
And when you cry I laugh.
Your blackness is my delight,
Your greatness my wonderment
And your absence my frustration.
Thus I give to you a prayer:
That the wind may beat you
With heavy flailing arms
And that your anguish be great
And that your helplessness make you sad
And cry-for yourself and for me.

PRIME MINISTER'S MESSAGE

In the fast-paced world of today, where the difficulty of attaining self-satisfaction is becoming more and more evident, we must try that much harder to achieve: be it on a University Campus, at a Technical School, in apprenticeship, working, or what-ever.

Eventually we must all face the will of man's greatest oppressor, Society. For this reason we must prepare and educate ourselves to fit into our little slots in the cogs of this great "Society Machine", for this reason also we must realize that the keys to our futures lie in one simple phrase:

"PALMA NON SINE PULVERE." ----NO REWARD WITHOUT EFFORT.

Keep this in mind and half the battle is won. In conclusion, I would like to wish you all the best of luck and success in the years to come; and may the bird of paradise fly up your nose!

This year, the Photography Club suffered from a very severe case of over-population! (Have you ever tried to squeeze 17 people into a room the size of our darkroom?) Anyway, this did not hamper the spirit and genuine congeniality that evolved within the club. Thanks to all members and special appreciation to Mr. Chan for making this year a very successful, eventful (and literally, rushing!) one.

FIGHTING BLACKHEADS?

SNAP

FACIAL CLEANSER REALLY WORKS!

And no wonder! A doctor writes: "The best way to prevent blemishes is to prevent blackheads . . . Essentially it boils down to regular degreasing of the skin, and this can best be carried out with frequent washings with a special skin soap."

SNAP is a special skin soap containing fine cleansing grains of imported pumice that deep-cleanse your pores, rolling away the excess oil and soil that cause blackheads and pimples. Discover for yourself how SNAP can help you win the battle of the blemish! SNAP really works.
